Whose Turn Is It Anyway?

Whose Turn Is It Anyway?

January 25 – 28, 2024

Durham Convention Center (Durham, NC)

Whose Turn Is It Anyway (aka Whose Turn) features hundreds of friends coming together for four straight days of board gaming. 2018 attendance was 305, 2019 was 392, and 2020 reach over 440 attendees. After coming out of hibernation in 2023, we expect to reach 500+ attendees for 2024!

Following is information on sponsorships as well as opportunities for publishers to contribute to our Play To Win, Library, and Prizes! (see the last page for the list of amazing sponsors from 2020!)

Play to Win

Publishers have an excellent opportunity to get their latest, greatest games in front of the attendees of Whose Turn through our Play to Win program.

Each time an attendee plays a Play to Win game, they are entered into a random drawing to win it. This provides an incentive for attendees to get your game to the table multiple times during the event.

Best of all, we provide publishers with in-depth statistics of plays and estimated ROI, made possible through our automated Play to Win system, developed by Black Rhino Software

We also accept donations of games to our standing library and for use as prizes in contests and tournaments.

Ready to sponsor, have questions, or other ideas on how we might collaborate? Contact us at: organizers@whoseturn.org or through the contact form on our web site: www.whoseturn.org
